Salem's New Sewage Disposal Plant Soon Ready For Operation

Special Program Will Be Prepared for Event In April

ENGINEER THANKS CITY OFFICIALS

Barckhoff Predicts City Will Save Money By Operation

Salem's new, model disposal plant, commended by state officials and visiting engineers as one of the finest and most practical operating sewage treatment projects in Ohio, will be open for inspection by the public toward the latter part of April, P. S. Barckhoff, city engineer, announced today.

A special program is being arranged by Barckhoff and other city officials for the opening day, by which visitors will be conducted through the plant, and explanations made to groups of its working processes. The date for this opening has not been set by Barckhoff.

Walks To Be Laid

Laying of concrete walks and driveways, at the plant's entrance, and grading and sowing of grass, together with a few other odd jobs, compose the remaining work, Barckhoff states, and with consistently favorable weather, this should be completed in five weeks.

State officials, from the Ohio department of health, inspecting the plant recently, expressed satisfaction and commended Barckhoff and other city officials responsible for the new plant for their rapid progress.

The contract for the plant's construction was awarded July 10th to the Freeman-Jones Construction company, of Cleveland. Actual construction work was completed several months ago.

The $195,000, voted by people of Salem, for the plant, in a bond issue, in November, 1927, will be adequate for all work to be done, Barckhoff says. General work utilized a great portion of the amount together with the plant's construction, but sufficient money is on hand to continue work on its completion.

Salem Rates Highly
"Salem now has as good control of its sewage situation as any city in Ohio," Barckhoff declared today.

"This plant, in our opinion, is outstanding in its degrees of purification, in the strength of its construction and in the lowness of cost, per capita, to citizens who pay for it," he continued.

The new plant, he declared, will cost less than $1 per capita while under the old system the cost approximated $1.50 per capita each year of operation.

The old plant required continual rebuilding of sand beds, which cost approximately $10,000 per year, while the amount expended for labor continually reached $5,000.

The $5,000 for labor was taken out of general taxation, while the $10,000 per year, for other expenditures, was appropriated through a bond issue every two years. This bond issue imposed on the city an additional cost of $3,000, making the total cost of operating the plant, $18,000 annually.

Columbiana County Children Placed In Fairmount Home

Plans In Progress For Improvements at County Institution; Recreation Program For Year Outlined By Committee

Eight children from Columbiana county were admitted to the Fairmount Children's home, in Alliance, R. D. George, the new superintendent of the home, reported at the March meeting of the board of trustees, making the total number of children being cared for by the institution, 153, during the past month.

A total of 38 applications for entrance were received, A. E. Howell, director of the children's bureau, states, but only children from this county were admitted. Of the number not admitted, 21 were turned over to relatives, seven placed in foster homes, and two in boarding homes.

A total of 171 children are in foster homes outside the institution, under the supervision of the children's bureau, Howell reports. The

ACTION DELAYED ON COUNTY MEET

Change In Scoring Of Track Events Not Decided

Action on the point-per-player scoring system for county track meets was deferred until a later meeting of the Columbiana County Field and Track association, following a short discussion of the issue at the banquet of the County Schoolmasters association, at Lisbon last night.

W. E. Ward, athletic coach of East Palestine High school, advocate of the system, explained it to members of the association, giving his opinion as to its advantages in giving smaller schools in the county an opportunity to win the track title, and also stated that this would incidentally, return the interest in the meet, which he declared was dropping off.

W. J. Springer, principal and athletic director of Salem High school, opposed the system, and took exception to Ward's statements that interest was decreasing in the county meet, by pointing out the fact that at last year's meet, the attendance was the largest in county track history.

East Liverpool and Wellsville track officials also oppose the plan, stating that it will give smaller schools too great an advantage.

No decision was reached on the question where this year's meet, scheduled for May 11, will be held, the special session will be called by E. F. Stonebraker, president of the track and field association.

SALARY BUYING BILL PASSED BY OHIO SENATORS

Say Present Plan Allows Interest Rate of 240 Percent Yearly

THREE PERCENT TO BE LEGAL RATE

Solons Jubilant Over Way "Jitney Calendar" Has Worked Out

Columbus, Mar. 8.—Senate leaders were visibly jubilant today over the success of their "jitney calendar" and the passage of the Marshall bill, which would outlaw "salary buying" in the state of Ohio.

Passage of 10 bills, including the Marshall measure, and adjournment until Monday night, marked the session of the solons of the upper house here yesterday.

Speed manifested in the handling of the bills yesterday spoke well for the new "jitney calendar."

Sen. L. L. Marshall's bill puts the small loan businesses under state regulation and fixes the amount of interest to be charged.

Definite steps toward the conciliation of the house and senate over two different bills, each providing for construction of a new state office building, are to be taken at a meeting between senate and house leaders Monday night. Here again Governor Cooper will play the role of "peacemaker" as he is expected to suggest several amendments to the Morgan house bill, which will make it acceptable to the upper house.

Sen. Robert L. Rohe, Tiffin, in sponsor of the senate state office building measure, and has agreed to let his bill "die" if certain amendments are made to the Morgan bill.

Slight differences in the way of raising the $6,000,000 required and in the location of the building have caused the controversy between the two houses of the Buckeye state legislature.

Under present statutes, small loan companies "purchase" salaries, taking a "commission" of 25 cents on every five dollars. This amounts to about 240 per cent interest a year.

The bill would limit the interest rate to 3 per cent a month or 36 per cent a year. The measure also effects other small loans besides "salary buying." The bill now goes to the house.

Other bills passed were mostly of minor character. They include: The Jones house bill, providing for erection of a $10,000 memorial to World War veterans on the state-house grounds here.

INAUGURAL BAND TO PARADE HERE

Boy Musicians to March On Downtown Street Saturday

The Veterans of Foreign Wars boy's band of Warren, which is to give a concert at the high school auditorium Saturday night was one of the high spots in the recent inaugural parade in Washington. Radio listeners can recall the comments of Graham McNamee as the band passed the reviewing stand.

Following the parade the announcer offered personal congratulations to the organization.

The band was organized two years ago and in this time has traveled over a great portion of the United States. It has given concerts in Providence, R. I., Atlantic City, Tulsa, Okla., and many other nearby cities. It will participate in the national V. F. W. convention at St. Paul this summer.

Arrangements have been made to have the band give a matinee concert and a street parade in addition to the regular evening concert, which in Salem, The parade is scheduled for 4:30 Saturday afternoon.

The appearance here is sponsored by the Salem post V. F. W.

Brunette Wins From Blonde In Scientific Kissing Contest; Radio Plays In New Role

Fourteen Heartbeats Give Margin of Victory; Losers Jealous

New York, March 8.—By 14 heartbeats, pretty Elsie Laureston, of Delmar, Ia., today wore the crown of premier "thrill kisser" and thereby added glory to the race of brunettes.

It was one of those scientific experiments, the purpose being to determine if blonde or brunette girls were more emotionally susceptible to kisses.

For the cause of bigger and better kisses and the accurate spelling of names, four chorus girls of "Pleasure Bound" submitted themselves as scientific subjects.

There were two blondes and two brunettes. None had ever been married.

GIRL STEALS CAR OF RUFUS DAWES

Cantonian Held By Police for Taking Auto Belonging to Brother Of Former Vice President

Cleveland, March 8.—Miss Virginia Craig, 17, of Canton, was at liberty today under $3,500 bond posted by her father for her appearance to answer charges of driving a stolen automobile from Evansville, Ill., to Oberlin, O. The machine was the property of Rufus Dawes, brother of the former vice president, Charles G. Dawes.

Miss Craig was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner M. J. Monahan after she had been arrested in Oberlin where it is said she tried to sell the car at a price so low as to arouse suspicion.

The girl admitted, officials say, she had misled her parents into believing she had a position as a student nurse in a Chicago hospital, and drove the car away because she was "broke."

HOUSE-SENATE SQUABBLE OVER SPECIAL SESSION

Opening Date Suits All, But Topics to Come Up Debated

MEETING MAY LAST DURING SUMMER

Farm Relief Main Issue, But Tariff Plays Strong Part

Washington, March 8.—A sharp disagreement between senate and house leaders over the legislative program for the special session of the new congress today marked the initial reaction to President Hoover's proclamation.

The date, set by the president for convening the session—April 15—met with universal favor, but opinion was sharply divided on the question of whether the program can be limited to farm relief, tariff reform and house reorganization.

Some senate leaders favored a "wide open" session, in the belief they would be unable to block other legislation, while house leaders demanded a session limited to the subjects enumerated in the Hoover proclamation.

A minor squabble also developed over the question of which branch should consider farm relief first.

House leaders, led by Rep. John Q. Tilson of Conn., the Republican floor leader, felt the house should initiate farm relief, while waiting for the house ways and means committee to complete a new tariff schedule. Senate leaders declared the new agricultural bill should start in the upper branch of congress.

The two groups of leaders were agreed on one thing—that congress should adjourn its special session by July 1. The rank and file, however, had no such optimism—they predicted the session would last all summer if a farm relief and a tariff bill were to be enacted.

House leaders also appeared wrong in their belief that the session can be limited to farm relief, tariff and reorganization. Thousands of bills and resolutions will be introduced at both ends of the capitol and senate committees undoubtedly will report some favorably.

The enactment of even a dozen minor measures would force the house either to organize its entire personnel, thereby opening the floodgates to all manner of legislation, or else arbitrarily ignore the bills passed by the senate. Such an affront might lead to a senate filibuster against the tariff bill—an eventuality that could lead to disruption of the Hoover program.

Playwright Dies

CABINET MEETS FOR FIRST TIME UNDER HOOVER

Three Old Faces Around Table; Stimson Still Enroute

VICE PRESIDENT IS ALSO WITH GROUP

Hoover Revives Custom Dropped by Coolidge During Regime

Washington, Mar. 8.—Herbert Hoover, who twice a week for the last eight years sat down at the lower end of the cabinet table in a chair labeled "secretary of commerce," moved up five seats to the head of the table this morning and called a cabinet meeting of his own—the first of the new administration.

There were three old faces around the table—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Secretary of Labor Davis, and Secretary of State Kellogg, who is holding over until Henry L. Stimson arrives from the Philippines. The others were getting their initiation into the mysteries of running the government.

At the opposite end of the table from President Hoover was Vice-President Curtis, who will attend cabinet meetings regularly.

The idea of having the vice-president present was conceived in the Harding administration, but abandoned by Mr. Coolidge.

Curtis, long experienced in the senate, however, will make himself of value to the cabinet on legislative matters, and Mr. Hoover has revived the custom.

STEWART OUT OF OIL CONTROL

Former Indiana Chief Is Gallant In Defeat; Dollars Win

Whiting, Ind., March 8.—Forces of John D. Rockefeller Jr. were in complete control at Standard Oil of Indiana headquarters today following the memorable "battle of Whiting," fought out here yesterday with stockholders' proxies serving for ammunition.

Exploding of flash-light powder by a battery of cameramen gave a touch of war realism to the dramatic scene.

The principal casualty was Col. Robert W. Stewart, who was fighting to retain control of the wealthy Indiana corporation as chairman of its board of directors. He emerged from the battle minus his $125,000 a year job, and short of any further connection with company affairs.

The Rockefeller faction, for whom victory had been predicted, was able to effect the "fighting colonel's" ouster by a 2 to 1 vote.

Despite the beating he took, Col. Stewart walked from the crowded Whiting community house a sort of hero. He was gallant in defeat. He smiled and proudly stated that "dollars" had beaten his "men."

By this he referred to the proxy poll which showed that, although beaten 2 to 1 in the matter of shares, he had been supported by two-thirds of individual shareholders. Showing that the men of wealth supported the Rockefellers, and that the "little fellows" voted for Stewart.

England Bans Eggs Received Unmarked

Washington, Mar. 8.—England doesn't want to get any "bad eggs" from the United States and those that do make the transatlantic trips must denote their point of origin.

Great Britain, has ruled that all eggs entering the United Kingdom must show their place of origin. The law says:

"The indication of origin shall be conspicuously and durably marked in ink on the shell of each imported egg in letters not less than two millimeters in height."

WESTERN OHIO HIT BY QUAKE

30 Second Shock Cause Of Alarm In Buckeye State Area

A slight earth shock, lasting about 30 seconds, was experienced in various cities of Western Ohio shortly after 4 o'clock this morning.

Residents of Bellefontaine, which was in the center of the aroused section, were alarmingly awakened by the shaking of their beds.

So frightened were employees at a garage in Piqua that they frantically appealed to the police to spread an alarm. Buildings throughout Piqua trembled.

The shaking of buildings and the rattling of windows were reported at Sidney, Wapakoneta, St. Marys and LaRue.

No serious damage was reported in any of the disturbed cities.

FEDERAL VICTORIES AT OTHER POINTS

East and South Freed From Rebel Regime; North Problem

El Paso, March 8.—Rebel troops were in control of practically all of Juarez this afternoon.

Following a heavy early morning assault, and violent street fighting the federals were driven back until they held only a small part of Juarez at the Mexican end of the international bridge.

El Paso, Texas, Mar. 8.—Street fighting broke out in Juarez early today between rebels under Gen. Miguel Valle and federals from the Juarez garrison.

The federals swept the streets with machine gun fire.

The machine guns had been placed upon the roofs of buildings commanding the chief streets of the city and as soon as the rebels began to work their way into the city from the suburbs the gunners broke loose with blasts of fire.

United States troops from Fort Bliss were massed at the American end of the international bridge, ready to cross if any emergency arose to demand it.

El Paso Hears Firing
Fighting began about 6:30 o'clock indicating that the reinforcements General Valle expected had arrived from the south during the night.

The people of El Paso could plainly hear the rattle of the machine gun fire from across the Rio Grande river. Many rushed to the water front and others crowded the roofs of the buildings.

A number of Americans, who had remained in Juarez despite the threat of warfare, fled across the international bridge. The United States troops guarding the American end allowed them to pass through the lines.

It was reported that the rebels cut the telephone lines leading into Juarez.

American refugees said that the rebels advanced through the suburbs of Juarez early in the morning. Federal sentries gave the alarm by firing their rifles.

Fire Becomes Steady
Apparently the federal garrison was outnumbered for the federals kept falling back slowly meanwhile keeping up a steady fire with machine guns, rifles and automatic pistols.

Mexican residents of the city either kept indoors or fled from the city.

As the rebels pushed forward in their concerted assault the Mexican machine gunners increased their fire. They evidently had plenty of ammunition and their drumming volleys were incessant.

Both federals and rebels took refuge behind temporary barricades or sought Indian fashion dodging from doorway to doorway.

REAL THING IN EFFICIENCY

The average pound of coal which in 1923 moved a ton of freight and the equipment to haul it 6.2 miles in 1928 moved the same load 7.9 miles. In other words, the railroads, in line with other economical practices which have marked their course in recent years, have been working for the conservation of fuel with the result that the hauling mileage of a pound of coal has steadily increased. In their freight service it went up to 6.7 miles in 1924, to 7.1 miles in 1925, to 7.3 miles in 1926 and 7.7 miles in 1927, with the 1928 showing stated.

The Railway Age, in its current issue, puts the saving in fuel another way, showing that a pound of coal in the railroad freight service produced in 1928 three per cent more hauling power than in 1927, eight per cent more than in 1926, 11 per cent more than in 1925, 18 per cent more than in 1924 and 27 per cent more than in 1923.

The reader may better understand the saving in the freight service of the railroads when it is stated that, taking 1923 as a basis, it amounted to 6,515,000 tons in 1924, which was increased to 12,203,000 tons in 1925, to 14,958,000 tons in 1926, on up to 18,483,000 tons in 1927 and 20,534,000 tons in 1928. Thus the railroads of the land have effected a saving in coal in their freight service during the last five years of 72,900,000 tons, which would amount at the average price of the coal used by them, to $193,000,000.

Very similar economy has marked the fuel consumption in the passenger service, the amount of coal necessary to move a passenger car a mile having been reduced from 18.1 pounds in 1923 to 15 pounds last year. This saving has worked economy to the extent of 20,927,000 tons, or $55,711,000 in the passenger department, making a combined saving of $248,778,000 in the last five years in fuel alone.

Very frequently we have heard of big money being made through efficiency, but often there is nothing to show for it. Here, however, we have the real thing. The railroads offer a brand of efficiency which is understandable. Such practical efficiency is a welcome relief from the theoretical variety of which we hear so much with no corresponding array of results.

What Others Say

THE "LAME DUCK"

The responsibilities urged upon a weak and irresponsible congress—of the lame-duck variety—are many and great. But none is more truly a duty than the problem of reappointment of congressional representation. Speaker Longworth, in his speech at the Cincinnati club has taken an admirable position in this matter. He urges that the size of the house be maintained at 435 members, since any larger number would produce a clumsy and inefficient body. Naturally it is easy for Mr. Longworth to propose this to an Ohio audience, for Ohio is one of the several states which stands to gain in representation by a reallocation of congressmen on the basis of either 1920 or 1930 census figures.

Nevertheless, there is no valid reason why congress should evade its constitutional duty to keep a relation between the population and the representation of the states in the house of representatives. Only the petty cowardice of individual representatives who value their jobs more than their duties has allowed this condition to arise. If there is no way to correct the condition save an authorization in advance for reapportionment automatically in terms of the 1930 figures, then so be it. Many frightened congressmen will save their skins thereby, and the job will eventually be done. If the constitution is worth keeping at all, it is worth enforcing effectively, and one of its provisions has in this relation been neglected for eight years. Courage, congressmen! Surely you will not be ousted at the next election merely for performing your constitutional duty! Cincinnati Enquirer.

BEWARE OF DIETS WITHOUT BULK

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Will Protect You

People are more careful than ever before about diet. They diet to clear complexions. They avoid certain foods to stay thin. They eat others to get fat. But many are running a serious danger because they are missing the "roughage" or "bulk" foods that every person must have to keep well.

As a result, constipation gets in its deadly work. Headaches, listlessness, clouded eyes are only the first symptoms. In the end, constipation ruins health, wrecks beauty and may cause serious disease.

Don't neglect your daily roughage. That is nature's rule. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will supply it. A healthful cereal to eat each day. To use in cooked dishes or to serve with milk or cream. To mix with other cereals.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation—to prevent it. Two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. It is 100% bran. Doctors recommend it. Your grocer sells it. Served by hotels, restaurants, dining cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

DREADFUL PAIN FELT IN ANGINA PECTORIS

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
(United States Senator from New York)

No matter where the severe pain is located in the body, it seems to the sufferer that he is worse off than anybody else ever was. It is the present pain that seems hardest.

DR. COPELAND

I have seen many a person in terrible agony. Headache, earache, the eye pain in glaucoma, the suffering of shingles, inflammation of the stomach—any one of these may be terrible. But to my mind the attack known as "angina pectoris" is the most dreadful of all pains.

When the agony of this ailment comes on, the bravest and calmest of strong men will roll on the floor in his distress. Every line in the pallid face shows the terrible mental fear and physical suffering. There is nothing else that can approach its agonizing effects.

One writer describes it in these words: "A heavy leaden weight lies upon the patient's chest and he dare not try to breathe because of excruciating pain, and without breath he must die." Indeed, it is a state of misery without equal.

Some unfortunate persons have a tendency to this disease. They suffer recurring attacks. Every few weeks, or perhaps only once a year, they appear.

Usually the angina comes on after severe physical strain or emotional disturbance. Anger, sorrow, disaster or some similar exciting cause may bring on the attack.

All at once there is a pain in the heart. It feels as if that vital organ had been seized and was being

When the agony of this ailment comes on, the bravest and calmest of strong men will roll on the floor in his distress. Every line in the pallid face shows the terrible mental fear and physical suffering. There is nothing else that can approach its agonizing effects.

One writer describes it in these words: "A heavy leaden weight lies upon the patient's chest and he dare not try to breathe because of excruciating pain, and without breath he must die." Indeed, it is a state of misery without equal.

Some unfortunate persons have a tendency to this disease. They suffer recurring attacks. Every few weeks, or perhaps only once a year, they appear.

Of course, I have been describing the violent, the worst forms of angina pectoris. There are other forms in which the agony is less pronounced and the symptoms disappear quickly.

Not every pain, by any means that is felt under the chest bone, is angina pectoris. There may be severe pain in some attacks of indigestion with gas formation. But then the agony is less severe and usually more prolonged.

Sometimes in high blood pressure associated with kidney disease, there may be attacks of pain in this region. It is important to have your doctor make a thorough physical examination to determine exactly what is wrong.

There are remedies which control the pain of angina. Your doctor will prescribe them. By using them at once there is every prospect of speedy relief.

It is a good idea to carry a supply of the medicine. It is likely to be needed when it is difficult to get the doctor in a hurry.

Answers to Health Queries

MRS. A. D. Q.—What do you advise for anemia where the patient's body swells? I have been taking lemon juice with a view to reducing.

A—It would be unwise to take too much lemon juice since you are anemic. Lemon juice taken in excess will tend to thin the blood and is not weight reducing. You should be under the care of your doctor. Have him prescribe for you.

A. E. O. Q.—I have a friend and the slightest touch on any part of her body leaves a black and blue mark. What causes this condition?

A—This is probably due to a circulatory disturbance.

J. P. Q.—How can I gain weight?

CLEVELAND SOLON INDICTED BY JURY

Cleveland, Mar. 8.—With the investigation still going forward, a third member of Cleveland's city council today was under indictment by the county grand jury, charged with using his influence as a councilman for graft.

William E. "Rarin" Bill, Potter, the latest councilman to be drawn into the inquiry, is charged with soliciting and accepting a $500 bribe from Jake and Abram Winer, building contractors, in order to use his influence to procure city contracts for them. Another count in the indictment accuses Potter of profiting personally on a deal involving an elective office.

Meanwhile, the county grand jury is said to be continuing its examination of all land deals in which the city has been interested in recent years.

Liston G. Schooley, former councilman, is under indictment for alleged profit in a purchase by the city of two playground sites for $87,250, which real estate appraisers have said was almost double the real value of the property.

Prior to this, Thomas W. Fleming, negro councilman, had been indicted and convicted of soliciting and accepting a bribe from a wounded detective in whose behalf Fleming sponsored a city ordinance.

Fleming and Schooley both resigned from city council but Potter asserted today he would fight any attempt at his removal. He pleaded not guilty to the indictment and was released under $5,000 bond.

School Man Wins Dancing Argument; All Is Well Now

St. Clairsville, O., March 8.—The village of White Oak, near here, settled back into complacency today after its 19-year-old teacher of the town school had backed into the limelight for a short time yesterday.

The hubbub was occasioned when six residents of the village signed a petition asking dismissal of Miss Ruth Timmons, 19, village school man, because she taught her pupils the Charleston.

Miss Timmons, who, a year ago, was a co-ed in Muskingum college, at yesterday's meeting of the school board, declared the dance was not the Charleston but "old folk" skits. The girl-teacher also testified that she could not dance the Charleston. She argued that the "dancing lessons" were a form of physical education.

Members of the school board agreed with her, and the charges were nipped, so today the hamlet of some 52 families, dropped back into its everyday life.

Connecticut Plans New State Office

Hartford, Conn., Mar. 8.—A state office building to cost $2,250,000 will be erected by Connecticut in the near future to relieve congestion in the state house. The legislature has authorized the building and named a commission to attend to the job.

The building will set off the state library, now opposite the rear of the state house, and will be the fourth in the group of state structures here, the third being the great state armory west of the capitol.

Budapest—Prince Abdul Kadir, son of the last sultan of Turkey and once worth $50,000,000, is seeking from the ministry of labor to join a gypsy orchestra as violinist. Four wives—one at a time—have deserted him since his expulsion from Turkey.

Judge W. F. Lones Refuses Divorce To Young Couple

Jurist Believes Time Will Heal Martial Differences

Lisbon, March 8.—"When folks marry at a very young age, they do not realize the responsibilities they are assuming," Judge W. Frank Lones stated in common pleas court late Thursday afternoon when he held in abeyance the granting of a divorce decree in the petition of a very young married couple.

"This will be an experiment," the court went on to say. "I want you to come back in six months," did to both the plaintiff and the defendant.

"I believe that this case is one for the juvenile court. The wife has been irritable and the husband has been likewise. The defendant testified that the plaintiff at times did not return home until 10 or 11 o'clock at night.

"There has been testimony that the defendant has chastised her baby beyond reasonable measures.

"It would be inhuman, in fact it would be cruel, to take the baby from the mother, but the striking of the child must stop. This child is not old enough to know right from wrong. It is a nervous condition that the child is contending with. I believe in corporal punishment to a child of older years when its mind is more matured.

"I will make an order that the plaintiff pay $7 per week for the support of his child, the costs of the suit and also counsel fees of the defendant; also that he shall have the right to visit his child Sunday afternoons and take it to his home."

The text of the opinion of the court indicates that from now on it will be exceedingly hard for young people to obtain a divorce. In the instant case, the plaintiff was 17 years and the defendant 16 years of age when they were married at Lisbon. Both are still minors.

DYNAMITE BLAST FATAL TO FIVE

Ton of Explosive Lets Go In Nebraska Town; Thirty Are Injured By Force

Scribner, Neb., March 9.—Five volunteer firemen were killed when a ton of dynamite exploded during a fire in the barn of County Supervisor Carl Hollander.

Twenty-six others were seriously injured. Two of these are expected to die.

All the injured are being cared for in Scribner hospital. Doctors have been summoned from surrounding towns and from Omaha, 45 miles away.

The fire, it is said, were unaware of the presence of the dynamite. It was stored in the barn for use in road construction work.

Windows were shattered in vicinity of barn and scattered in town. Scribner has a population of 1100.

Only three of the dead have been identified.

MUCH WEDDED MAN ARRESTED

Makes Five Trips to Altar Without Divorcing Former Mates; Mann Act Used

Cincinnati, O., March 8.—Walter Harmon, 35, New York in-law decorator, who is alleged to have stepped to the altar and pronounced the fatal "I do" on five different occasions, without taking the trouble to have previous marriages dissolved with, is being held under $10,000 bond here today charged with violation of the Mann act.

Harmon, alias Wade Ellis, alias Lee Lash, was arrested in his apartment here yesterday with a 17-year-old Louisville, Ky., girl. He is being held for police of that city.

The man's latest venture on marital seas was said to have been with Mrs. Helen Harmon, Toledo, less than a month ago. The woman refused to disclose her maiden name.

LADIES AID ELECTIONS

Members of the Ladies Aid society of the Presbyterian church had a covered dish luncheon Thursday at the church.

Mrs. Harry Percival had the devotional. At the business session the annual election of officers claimed attention.

The officers are: President, Mrs. Ida Bedell; first vice president, Mrs. C. C. Wilkinson; second vice president, Mrs. Stanton Heck; secretary, Mrs. Thomas Jenkins; treasurer, Mrs. May B. Lowry.

At a meeting of the three divisions of the society these officers were chosen:

Division 1—Chairman, Mrs. Charles Tolerton; secretary, Mrs. A. C. Long; treasurer, Mrs. George Campbell.

Division 2—Chairman, Mrs. C. H. Betts; first assistant, Mrs. Fannie Post; second assistant, Mrs. W. L. Strain; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. R. L. Wright.

Division 3—Chairman, Mrs. D. U. Smith; first assistant, Mrs. Gertrude Stewart; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Lee Vincent.

LARKSPUR CLUB

Mrs. Harding was an invited guest when members of the Larkspur club met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Stoudt, Garfield ave.

Three tables of five hundred were in play and prizes were awarded to Mrs. L. A. Beck and Mrs. Ray Beck. Mrs. Stoudt and Mrs. L. A. Beck were presented a miscellaneous shower of gifts in honor of their birthday anniversaries. Refreshments were served by the hostess at a table decorated in keeping with St. Patrick's day.

The next meeting on April 11 will be at the home of Mrs. J. E. Beck, Franklin ave.

JENNINGS AVENUE CLUB

Entertaining at a luncheon Thursday at her home, Cleveland avenue, Mrs. H. P. Maeder received her associates of the Jennings Avenue club. A bouquet of calendula formed the center piece on the table and St. Patrick's day appointments were used.

The afternoon was spent informally with needlework. On the second Thursday in April the members will meet with Mrs. S. Jewell, Jennings ave.

SURPRISE GATHERING

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Davidson, of Tenth st., were complimented with a surprise party Thursday evening at their home, given by members of Quaker City have No. 576, Ladies of the Macabees.

The event was in honor of their recent marriage and the guests presented them a beautiful bridge lamp.

A covered dish supper was a feature of the enjoyable evening and five hundred, euchre and coodle were favorite pastimes.

SALARY BILL

mitting the state highway directors to acquire additional land along highways and exchange it with interurban railway companies for the right to use the original right of way for widening the highway.

Sen. May Van Wye's bill, giving state financial aid to several small normal schools.

Sen. John D. Ewing's bill, allowing city councils to invest cemetery funds in interest bearing certificates.

Senator Marshall's bill, allowing cities to build up pension funds for school custodians by taking not less than one-tenth of 1 per cent of all money collected for school purposes.

The Able bill authorizes companies other than life and mutual companies to issue insurance which the state superintendent of insurance now permits under "sufferance."

When called up on the question of passage, the house recommitted to the house insurance committee the Dinmore bill permitting insurance companies to invest, up to 60 per cent of the value of their property, in railroad and other securities. The recommitment was for the purpose of further consideration and possible amendment, to meet objections of certain members of the house.

The house health committee recommended passage of the Bartlett bill requiring osteopaths to have two, or more, years of pre-medical work.

Emmons Bill Reported

The Emmons bill, providing for establishment of Bowling Green university and Kent university, was reported out favorably by the house committee on universities and colleges.

The house codes committee recommended passage of the Cave bill, relative to the Mansfield municipal court, and the house military affairs committee took similar action on the Jones bill, providing for acquisition by gift, by the board of trustees, Ohio archaeological and historical society of a site at Portland, Meigs county, and for erection of a monument hereon in honor of the union soldiers who at this point and at Buffington Island, turned back Morgan raiders July 20, 1863.

The house health committee recommended passage of the initiated bill to regulate the practice of chiropractors. The house codes committee reported out favorably the Rogers bill providing for sterilization of certain dangerous classes of society.

Columbus, March 8.—The Ohio senate is expected to act next week on the Hadden joint resolution which proposes a state constitutional amendment permitting classification of property for taxation purposes.

This resolution was adopted by the house, with a vote of 89 to 37, late yesterday.

Mrs. V. N. Schoewe has returned to her home, McKinley ave., after spending a few days in Sandusky, O., with her parents.

CHEERFUL CLUB

The birthday anniversaries of three members, Mrs. Edward Dugan, Mrs. Daisy Parsons and Mrs. Thomas Krepps were celebrated at a meeting of the Cheerful club Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Krepps, Depot st.

The honorees were showered with gifts of linen. A luncheon of St. Patrick's day appointments was served and the favors were little hats.

Contests entertained and prizes were won by Mrs. Dugan and Mrs. Parsons. The next meeting will be in two weeks.

SURPRISE PARTY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Harroff, Garfield ave., was the center of a delightful party Thursday evening, when 15 of their friends surprised them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harroff moved into a new home about a week ago, and the affair was a house warming.

The visitors brought a dinner and after the meal cards and radio entertainment were enjoyed.

CANNED HEAT FATAL TO TWO

Coroner Gives Death Cause of Men At Canton; Found Dead In Rooming House

Canton, March 8.—Thomas Evans, 40, a World war veteran, and Frank O'Mara, 46, were found dead in a rooming house here today.

Coroner T. C. McQuate said the two had died from the effects of drinking "canned heat."

will not exceed in cost, $11,000, and may be as low as $9,000, for operation each year, Barckhoff states, saving the city at least $7,000 annually.

The new plant utilizes gas, formerly lost under the old system, for heating and fuel purposes, creating a substantial savings each year in this respect.

"The success of the project is made possible by three important factors," Barckhoff said.

"First, the willing cooperation and confidence voiced by the people in voting the $195,000 bond issue. Second, the willing and constant cooperation of council to so quickly and readily act on all legislation and such supervision as was delegated to it, and third, the help and advice, and confidence placed in the engineering department by the city administration."

Kansas City, Kan.—Dance marathons do not please the church-going citizens of this city. Led by members of the ministerial alliance, hundreds of residents attend mass meetings nad protest against permitting the long drawn out affairs to be held in Soldiers and Sailors Memorial hall, over which there are a series of legal moves pending.

Prevent infection! Treat every cut, wound or scratch with this powerful non-poisonous antiseptic. Zonite actually kills germs. Helps to heal, too.

Romanoff Pretender

Although present conditions do not point to such a happening, this child could possibly become "Pretender" to the throne of the Romanoffs. He is the son of the Grand Duke Dimitri of the old regime in Russia, held in the arms of his mother, Princess Anna Ilyanskia.

TWO CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH

Clothes Drying Over Gas Heater Start Blaze Which Is Fatal; Mother Away

Cleveland, March 8.—A double funeral was being arranged today for two east side children who were trapped by flames in their home late yesterday and fatally burned before they could be rescued by firemen.

James Talmot, 5, and his brother, Benjamin, 10, were asleep in a bedroom when clothes drying over a gas stove caught fire and cut off egress from the room. The mother Mrs. James A. Talbot, had left the house a moment before to go to a grocery store. Both children died while they were being taken to a hospital.

KONJOLA BRINGS GLAD END TO 10 YEARS OF PAIN

Not Until She Gave Konjola A Chance, Did Happy Life Find Long Sought Relief

MRS. RUTH HOUSE

"O, that all who suffer as I have could know what this wonderful Konjola has meant to me," said Mrs. Ruth House 1035 Rittenhouse St., Cincinnati, O. "It is for this reason that I make this statement; I feel that it is the least I can do to pay the debt of gratitude I owe to this marvelous medicine. I was weak and run down, my general health was shattered as the result of indigestion, liver trouble and nervousness. I endured these painful and health destroying ailments for ten years, and not a medicine, not a treatment did me the least bit of good."

"Then came the most fortunate day of my life, when a friend, knowing of my condition, urged me to give Konjola a trial. Frankly, I had little faith, but I knew I must find relief somewhere, so I started taking Konjola, and almost at once I began to feel the effects of this magic compound. The pains were swept from my system, and I could feel my general health improving. In three weeks a transformation had come over me. I could eat anything I liked, my complexion was clear, and I began to take on weight and strength. It is easy for me to understand why Konjola is known as the medicine with more than a million friends."

Konjola is sold in Salem at J. H. Lease drug stores and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

TRANSFER FUNDS BUCKLEY PLACED

Alleged Illegal Deposits Withdrawn From Dayton, Toledo And Bowling Green Banks

Columbus, Mar. 8.—The $1,135,000 of state funds, allegedly illegally deposited in 11 Ohio banks in different parts of the state by ex-state treasurer, Bert B. Buckley, has been withdrawn from those banks and placed in various Columbus banks, according to announcement today by State Treasurer H. R. Ake. Of this amount, $700,000 had been deposited in Dayton banks, $300,000 in a Toledo bank, and a small amount in the Bowling Green State Bank.

With the withdrawal of the huge sum, the banks paid the interest up to date, which amounted to more than $4,200.

This announcement comes upon the eve of the imposition of sentence upon Buckley in federal court here, following his conviction on conspiracy and bribery charges. The man, who is 50 years of age, and who recently was disbarred as an attorney will be sentenced Monday. The maximum that can be meted out is 28 years in a federal penitentiary and a fine of $25,000.

Obituary

MRS. ALEX BICKEL
Paralysis caused the death of Mrs. Margaret Floor Bickel, 74, wife of Alex Bickel, who died early Friday morning at her home in New Middleton.

Mrs. Bickel was born March 10, 1855, at New Springfield, and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Heck. She had spent her life in Springfield township, Mahoning county. She was a member of the Lutheran church, New Springfield.

Surviving are her husband; three daughters, Mrs. Carl Metz and Mrs. Clyde Wire, New Middleton, and Mrs. Henry Burke, Columbiana; two stepdaughters, Mrs. Ira Hogue, Franklin, Pa., and Cora Bickel, Limestone, N. Y.; one sister, Mrs. Sol Krouse, North Lima and one brother, William Heck, Canfield.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon. There will be a short service at the home at 1:30 o'clock and at the New Springfield Lutheran church at 2:30 o'clock; burial in Columbiana cemetery.

THREE DIE WHEN RESIDENCE BURN

Mother Two Daughters Perish In Flames; Father and Others Badly Burned

Dayton, O., March 8.—A mother and two small children are dead today, their lives having been taken when fire destroyed their frame home, two miles south of here, last night. The father and two other children were seriously burned.

Mrs. Fred Young, 35, and her two small sons, James, 2, and William, 4, are the victims. The woman's husband, William, 36, and two children, Virginia, 6, and Robert, one year old, were in a hospital here fighting for their lives.

Origin of the fire remains undetermined. The house, located two miles from the nearest fire-fighting apparatus, had been completely destroyed by the time firemen arrived. The blaze was fanned by a brisk wind. All were believed to have been sleeping when the conflagration started.

The bridge near here is a historic one and was built during the Civil war. General Sterling Price and his Confederate troops used it to maintain communication with his scattered forces when he was forced to abandon his attempt to capture Fort Leavenworth in Kansas territory.

Two Famous Cronies, Henry Ford And Edison, On Tour

Inventors and Wives Wintering On Florida Coast; Give Different Views On Philosophies Of Life

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
Fort Myers, Fla., March 8.—Great pals are Henry Ford and Thomas A. Edison, "wintering" at adjoining estates in this beautiful part of the West Florida coast.

Mrs. Ford is here, and so is Mrs. Edison—so it is never lonesome for the women folks when their famous husbands are experimenting together, or by themselves, in their laboratories.

There is a gate leading from one estate to the other, and all day long the Fords and Edisons visit back and forth. Usually, the meetings are held in the Edison home.

Royal palm trees sway gently in the breeze. Edison park, nearby, is verdant with luxuriant flowers and trees growing under an abundance of fruit. In Edison's estate fully 12,000 different kinds of plants, obtained from all over the United States, are growing. Ford's estate, much smaller, is equally attractive to the eye.

From the front veranda of either the Ford or Edison home, one gets a magnificent view of the placid waters of the Caloosahatchee river.

He chatted with Henry Ford in this beautiful setting on two afternoons recently. He discussed all buildings fired over parapets at the moving forces.

The sharp, acrid smell of burning gunpowder filled the city. There was an incessant crash of breaking glass, but this was lost in the volleys of the guns.

Gen. Ramon commander of the Juarez garrison was in the thick of the fight. It was evidently his small army was compactly centered near the Mexican end of the international bridge.

Mexican Red cross workers risked death by dashing through the bullet filled streets to pick up the bodies of wounded.

Clouds of dust mingled with the rolling powder smoke as bursts of machine gun fire cut away parts of the adobe buildings.

With the rebels crushed in southern and eastern Mexico, the federal government today concentrated upon a campaign to put down the rebellion in the north.

Fighting was threatened today in Ciudad Juarez, just across the Rio Grande from El Paso. Following skirmishing south of the city yesterday, the rebel leader announced that he would attack the city today if he received expected reinforcements.

Mount 75 Guns
United States regulars from Fort Bliss mounted French 75 guns at the American entrance to the international bridge to sweep that structure in the event armed forces tried to cross from the Mexican side.

Armored railway cars and motor trucks bearing machine guns patrolled the United States side of the river. An ambulance corps was on hand for an emergency. A squadron of airplanes was ready for reconnaissance duty.

Both federals and rebels won victories in the state of Sinaloa. Mazatlan, on the coast of Sinaloa, one of the chief ports in western Mexico, was occupied by two regiments of federal infantry that were landed from a ship. However this success was countered by the rebel occupation of Culiacan, the capital of the state.

Vera Cruz Opened
The port of Vera Cruz, occupied by 8,000 federals, is now open for normal traffic.

General Aguirre and 600 rebels who were driven from Vera Cruz, are in flight towards the isthmus of Tehuantepec, pursued by federals.

Three groups of federals are converging upon the Torreón district where General Escobar, one of the main rebel leaders in the north, took refuge after being driven from Monterrey.

The claim of the rebels that the warships in the Gulf of Mexico have joined the revolution is denied by the Mexican secretary. This is supported by the fact that the war-craft off Vera Cruz did not fire upon the city when the federals occupied it.

General Jesus Palomera Lopez, former chief of the mounted police in the federal district (Mexico City) who was credited with having killed 500 persons with his own hands, was executed by a firing squad for inciting rebellion in the state of Michoacan. He died gamely and without fear after his long life of violence.

Mexico City, March 8.—War Minister Plutarco Calles and the other government military leaders today concentrated upon a campaign for the subjugation of the northeastern states of Mexico where the revolutionary movement still continues strong.

The government is in complete control in the east. Federal troops now hold sway in every important city from this capital to the coast between the American border and the Isthmus of Tehuantepec.

Vera Cruz, Mex., March 8.—This port was open and in direct communication with Mexico City today for the first time since the beginning of the revolutionary movement.

Federal troops are posted at all strategic points. Gen. Espiridon Gonzalez is in command. The city was turned over to Gen. Gonzalez by Loyal Agrarians who had opposed Gen. Jesus M. Aguirre and patrolled the city after he evacuated.

Persons who want anything know that The News is the Want Medium in this vicinity. So read it.

kinds of subjects entertainingly, and with engaging frankness. It is no easy matter to obtain an interview with Ford but once in his presence one is charmed by his graciousness as a host.

One impression Ford gives is his splendid physical condition. He certainly does not look his 65 years. I told him so.

"I try to live right," he said, "that's the answer."

Ford doesn't go in for any particular form of exercise, such as golf or tennis. Whenever he feels in the mood he takes a fast walk or a run.

Edison, however, does not do any exercise that could be classed as vigorous. The world's greatest inventor is an early riser and he spends considerable time outdoors as well as in his laboratory. Usually he rises about 6 in the morning. He takes a nap in the afternoon as a rule, but he frequently works as late as midnight.

Rather deaf, Mr. Edison steers clear of interviews, although on his birthday he grants one, as he realizes that the people of the country regard him somewhat of an oracle—even though he doesn't think so himself.

On the occasion of his 62nd birthday recently he was interviewed by 33 correspondents. There were fully a score of photographers present, too—still, movie and sound camera men. Edison had to pose for pictures, with President-elect Hoover, Ford and Harvey Firestone the rubber magnate.

The questions were written down in advance and Mr. Edison wrote his answers as the reporters were grouped about him.

Mrs. Edison, who is younger than her husband, saw to it that questions touching on religion, were not asked. It is understood that answers to religious questions on previous occasions drew considerable comment. It is a subject that is advisable to avoid discussing and she knows it, although apparently Mr. Edison is willing to go on record on any sensible question.

One statement that he made, that is, "I don't know of a single happy person," aroused no end of comment.

I asked Mr. Ford how about that? Did he know of a happy person?

"Yes indeed," said Ford. "Mr. Edison is the happiest man in the world. And he makes everybody else who comes in contact with him happy while they are in his presence. He has done things for humanity, and still is doing them, and that makes him happy."

A leading American newspaper wired Edison, I learned, as follows: "Mr. Edison, were you jollying us when you said there are no happy people? One of our constant readers wrote in and said she could name 15 happy persons."

Pals indeed they are—Ford and Edison. Ford is intensely interested in Edison's rubber experiments. It is Edison's belief that he can find a plant containing rubber that can be grown in the United States that would produce a rubber supply that would be of incalculable value to the United States in the event of a national emergency.

The two of them, Ford and Edison, can be seen any day examining plants, or what is left of ground plants, in Edison's laboratory—there amid the glass containers, bulbs and the like. When he is not working with Edison he is busy in his own laboratory looking over parts of automobiles and conceiving new ways to develop something of value to the automobile world.

Two great men—and cronies in the truest sense of the word.

Astronomers Thrill With Work Of Measuring Density Of Stars

Washington, March 8.—Despite the fact that some of the far-away stars are three thousand times as dense as platinum, and yet are perfectly gaseous, there are others of a density a thousand times less than atmospheric air.

This amazing celestial diagnosis has been made by Dr. C. G. Abbot, of Smithsonian Institution, internationally known astronomer and particularly distinguished for his work in measuring variations of solar radiation.

"Since there have been found no stars of masses many times greater than that of the sun, but a whole class of gigantic red stars several hundred times the sun's volume, it follows that the density of these red giants is of an order a thousand times less than atmospheric air," Dr. Abbot said.

"The study of eclipsing variables, many of which are blue and white stars, has also indicated a range of densities of the order a thousand times less than the sun's."

Proven Density

Dr. Abbot said that the comparison to the brilliant star Sirius has lately been proven to be some 60 thousand times as dense as water, or three thousand times as dense as platinum.

"To add to the astonishment which this statement evokes, this star, like all others, is mainly gaseous, and is even in that state of great freedom of internal motion called perfectly gaseous," Dr. Abbot said.

At ordinary temperatures gases may be compressed in the laboratory far beyond the density of water, but their molecules then occupy such large volumes, compared to the spaces between, that the internal motions of highly compressed gases are hindered, and they are no longer perfect gases.

But at the immense temperatures which prevail within the stars, Dr. Abbot explained, not only are the molecules dissociated but their atoms also are ionized, so that in the place of the relatively bulky molecules the separate electrons and nuclei only remain. These primitive particles are so excessively small that stars may be compressed far beyond the densities of our heaviest solid substances, without losing their perfectly gaseous qualities.

"Thus the interiors of the stars are in the simplest possible condition for theoretical studies," Abbot said.

"Eddington and others have taken full advantage of this favorable condition and have worked out so thoroughly the relation of pressure, temperature, diameter, energy and constitution, and with such excellent accordance with what can be astronomically observed among the host of heavenly bodies, that we may be said to know far more of the internal condition of the stars than we do of the interior of the earth."

Comparing Temperatures
As compared with our own sun with a surface temperature of 6,000 degrees absolute centigrade, the stars range in temperature from the red giants at less than 3,000 degrees to the 16,000 degree temperature of such a star as Rigel.

"Within the stars two forces strive against the enormous compressive force of gravitation," Abbot continued. "These are, first, the agitation of the electrons, and atomic nuclei, after the fashion of pressures in all gases, and second, the pressure of radiation."

"In the interior of the star, the temperatures which may reach 40,000,000 degrees, are so exalted that the radiation therein exerts tremendous pressure. At such temperatures the prevailing wave lengths are of the order of x-rays, rather than of visible light."

"Such very short wave rays are unable to penetrate more than a few centimeters through the ionized atomic gas of the stellar substance. Under these circumstances the energy of the interior is imprisoned, and after reaching the blue state the central parts of a star grow hotter and hotter. They are unable to prevent the exterior from cooling. Hence, we find two kinds of red and yellow stars, one very bulky and rare, the other relatively small and dense. Our sun belongs to the dwarf class, having passed the acme of brightness."

When your Children Cry for It

Mother, who take one simple precaution, are seldom worried. With a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria in the house they can do what their doctor would tell them to do, when baby is fretful, feverish, colicky, constipated or stuffed up with cold—give a few drops of this pure vegetable, pleasant-tasting preparation. It comforts baby and soothes him to sleep in a jiffy. It's perfectly safe for the youngest infant. Use it freely—and as often as needed, especially at night. A more liberal dose is all it takes to comfort and relieve older children, when feverishness, bad breath, no appetite, colds, etc., show they need a good purging. The mark of genuine Castoria is the Fletcher signature on the wrapper. Look for it to avoid imitations.

Keep youth longer!

cleanse the system of poisons

Two of the great enemies to youth and vitality are delayed elimination and intestinal poisons. To keep yourself free from both these common difficulties will help you to stay young.

With the use of Nujol you can do it too. For Nujol absorbs body poisons and carries them off, preventing their absorption by the body. Nujol also softens the waste matter and brings about normal evacuation. It is harmless; contains no drugs or medicine. It won't cause gas or griping pains, or affect the stomach or kidneys. Every corner druggist has Nujol. Make sure you get the genuine. Look for the Nujol bottle with the label on the back that you can read right through the bottle. Don't delay, get Nujol today.

Ready for Another Shot at Record

Probably the shadow of revolution will not deter Captain Ira Baker, above, from his attempt to set a new record for flight from the Mexican border to Panama City. The pursuit plane pictured here is expected to attain nearly 200 miles per hour and carry the chief pilot of the "Question Mark's" record making endurance flight to a new record.

GERMAN EXPERT HERE TO STUDY AIR MAIL PLAN

Notable German Aviator Inspects American Situation

New York, Mar. 7.—Major Otto Lehmann, notable figure in the aviation industry of Germany, aerial observer in the World War, and at present one of the officials of the Lufthansa company, Germany's principal operator of aircraft, is in the United States to make a detailed inspection of the American Air Mail service. The reason for his interest in this infant branch of American enterprise is summed up by Major Lehmann's own words: "Airplane lines of nearly every other European country pass over Germany, and we are naturally greatly interested in learning how the United States Air Mail can operate without any government subsidy."

Young Matron Much Enthused

Smilingly Tells of Amazing Manner in Which World's Tonic Banished Catarrh

Men and women in various sections of this country are using World's Tonic and highly praise it for the surprising results it is bringing.

A young matron of this city is one of those who are highly enthusiastic about World's Tonic. A little over a week ago this young woman purchased a bottle of World's Tonic. Yesterday she returned and bought her second bottle. Then she smilingly told the man:

"Your treatment proved to be what I had long been looking for. My catarrh had become very bad and it seemed like I couldn't find anything that would help it. It was really getting serious. I'd been troubled for five years and had got to a point where I had headaches constantly, hawked and spit mucus all the time, had ringing in my ears, dry scales in my nose, watery eyes and just felt bad and disagreeable all over."

"Well, as I said, the World's Tonic Treatment was just what I needed. I haven't had a headache since I started using it and the mucus in my nose and throat also disappeared almost at once. The ringing in my ears and all the other distress of the catarrh has left and I'm feeling better all over than for a long time."

World's Tonic is made to help fight catarrh and to relieve liver, kidney and bladder trouble. It not only helps combat catarrh in the head, nose and throat, but also at its source—within the system, and that is why it is able to bring such amazing benefit.

Get World's Tonic today at The J. H. Lease Drug Co. or any other reliable druggists.—(A-156) Adv

Student Prefers Spending Day In Jail to $5 Fine

Des Moines, Mar. 8.—"Five dollars or one day in jail, pronounced Municipal Judge Ralph Powers.

"I'll take the day in jail, your honor," replied Malvern Greenawalt, Simpson college student who had pleaded not guilty to a charge of careless driving.

And with a couple of textbooks under his arm, young Greenawalt was led away to the "cooler."

Cuban Taxi-Drivers Have Few Accidents

Havana, Mar. 8.—Omnibus drivers who operate between Havana and outlying towns are notorious for their disregard of all rules of safety and caution.

At the same time there are remarkably few accidents. Many of the drivers carry a picture of their favorite saint and a printed sign hanging above the steering wheel which reads: "Dies Benige este carro," which translated means "God bless this automobile."

On the saint and the quotation the driver pins his luck and bears down on the throttle for all the motor will stand.

"CHILDREN OF THE RITZ"
An ultra modern story dressed as smartly as a Fifth ave. show window brings Jack Mulhall and Dorothy Mackall back to the State tonight and Saturday.

"Children of the Ritz" is the name First National Pictures has given to this society comedy and it is entertainment plus.

As Angela, spoiled younger daughter of the Pennington millions, Miss Mackall is allowed to romp through more clothes and better sets than ever before, while Mulhall her chauffeur husband who blossoms for a time into a New York spend-thrift, carries the burden of a more than ordinary comedy-drama plot. These two favorites have a whole cast of fine looking young people with whom they make the picture lively and good to look at. Among them are James Ford, Kathryn McCub, Doris Dawson, Edward Burns and Lee Moran.

The story is much better than average comedy vehicles, having been a prize winner in a novel contest which netted its author $10,000. Starting with the familiar theme of the wealthy girl in love with the family chauffeur it develops entirely new situations when she loses her money and he becomes rich. They move to the Ritz hotel where his money proves inadequate and love meets many stumbling blocks.

"SUNSET PASS"
Jack Holt is at the Grand tonight, in one of the best pictures of his career, entitled "Sunset Pass." It will be repeated tomorrow, together with a comedy "Wives Won't Weaken," and episode six of "Masked Menace."

"PLASTERED IN PARIS"
Here is the story of "Plastered in Paris," the feature at the Royal, tonight and Saturday.

Sammy (Sammy Cohen) and his World War buddy (Jack Pennick), journey to Paris, where the American legion is convening, to attempt to revive Sammy's war romance and to seek a cure for his kleptomania, which developed in the trenches. In Paris, Sammy's kleptomania causes him to steal the enlistment papers of two French Foreign Legion rookies. As a result, they are inducted in Morocco in a fight against Riff brigands and later, manage to escape from the French fortress.

Meanwhile, the French general's daughter (Lola Slavi) and Sammy's war time girl, a French Soubrette (Marion Byron), have been captured by the Riffs and forced into the sheik's harem. The two funsters steal into the Riff headquarters, rescue the fair captives and kidnap the entire harem.

THE GUMPS—NEPTUNE'S DAUGHTER

HOME-MAKING HELPS

—By Wanda Barton

For Cocksure Results—Measure!
Do business women make good cooks?

I know many number who, after a few months of housekeeping, are quite expert—to their own astonishment, as well as that of husband and friends. One girl who had been very upplish in her big secretarial job confessed that she lost her nerve completely when she faced the task of preparing her first dinner for two.

In a short time, however, she has become as competent in the kitchen as she had been in an office. And as thorough, too. Her dinners are delightful, and she swanks a bit because she cooks everything fresh, and doesn't merely reheat prepared foods. She even goes in for home baking, and in her larger there's always sure to be a cake or pie, hand-made on the premises. She says she has very few cooking failures, "and I never took a lesson in my life."

The explanation is simple enough. A business woman who is interested enough in cooking to want to do the work, goes about learning in businesslike fashion. She has the advantages of training in accuracy, in absorbing instructions carefully, and carrying them out intelligently. No stenographer depends on memory or instinct in typing a letter—she reads her dictation and follows her notes. So the same girl, transplanted into a kitchen, reads cooking directions carefully and does what they describe.

It's in the business woman's kitchen that you are quite sure to see the equipment for accurate measuring. Only a few are needed, but these few are the best kind of insurance against cooking failures. Here they are:

First: A set of measuring spoons. They come in standard form, five to a set. They have round instead of oval bowls, and there is a small hole in the handle so that they can be kept tied together and hung up conveniently over the kitchen table.

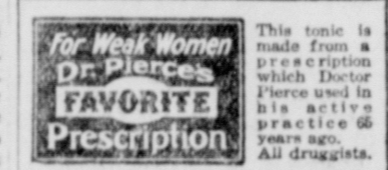

The largest of the five is a standard tablespoon, next a desert spoon, then a teaspoon, a half teaspoon, and the smallest is an accurate quarter teaspoon. There is only one way to measure correctly—scoop up the flour or sugar or whatever it is that you require, then draw a knife across the top to remove the excess mounded over the spoon edge. You then will have left in the spoon what is known as a "level spoonful"—and this is the quantity meant by modern recipes. In some of the old cookbooks one occasionally runs across the words "a heaping teaspoonful," but this phrase is now abandoned. Because you can "heap" a spoon so that it contains two or three times as much as a level one. But the level teaspoonful is always the same.

Second: A tin or glass measuring cup. These cups are ridged at the side to indicate half, quarter, and one-eighth cupfuls.

Third: A quart measure. This also is marked with ridges to show what is a pint, a cup and a gill. When measuring any dry ingredient in a cup or pint measure, level off the top with a knife just as one does for spoonfuls. Liquids, of course, level themselves.

Fourth: A kitchen scale. This is a useful time-saver when recipes call for sticky ingredients in pounds or ounces. It is then easier to weigh than to press into cup measurements. Also there are slight variations in the number of cups to a pound in certain items, and if your recipe gives ingredients in weights, it must be followed according to weight.

Auto Pilots Aid German Traffic

Berlin, March 7.—The instituting some months ago by the General German Automobile club "ADAC" of "auto pilots," stationed at the main thoroughfares leading into Berlin, has proved so popular that their number is to be increased.

Among the pilots to be added will be some who possess driver's licenses. The fee for pilots who merely show the way is 36 cents an hour; for the drivers, 48 cents. The same service is also to be instituted in the other large German cities.

The ADAC has 60 automobiles in service which are equipped with standy tour the main roads to aid complete repair appliances and cars that have an accident.

Helped at Change of Life

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a wonderful medicine at the Change of Life. I would get blue spells and just walk the floor. I was nervous, could not sleep at night, and was not able to do my work. I know if it had not been for your medicine I would have been in bed most of this time and had a big doctor's bill. If women would only take your medicine they would be better."—Mrs. Anna Weaver, R. F. D. No. 2, Rose Hill, Iowa.

TEXAS DISPUTES OKLAHOMA PLEA FOR VAST AREA

Legislative Battle Looms With 43,000 Acres Involved

Oklahoma City, March 8.—Forty-three thousand acres of land lying along the Texas-Oklahoma border, which approximately 1,000 persons live, is now being claimed by both states. To settle the dispute, a committee named by the legislature of the two states will meet soon with a view toward settlement of the dispute.

The land has been assumed to be part of Oklahoma and most of the residents believe they own land homesteaded under the United States settlement laws. But Texas being a Republic prior to its admission to the union, never surrendered its public lands, and in that state public lands belong to the state and not to the government.

Affects Homestead
Then, should the land be found to belong to Texas, the national homesteading laws will not apply and residents of the territory will find themselves facing payment of thousands of dollars of back taxes. Texas surveyors have long been working in the territory, hoping to establish original boundary marks. So far, their task has been unavailing because of the scarcity of land marks and the passing away of original surveyors, who, it is hoped, might have shed some light on the subject.

The land in question is a wedge shaped bit of land, 130 miles long. It was unknowingly awarded to Texas years ago. Oklahoma, however, has never relinquished her claim.

Where Fault Lies
The real fault lies in the history of early day surveying methods in the southwest. Surveyors of that time had much territory to cover and they usually counted the miles by the number of thumps of a horse's hoofs on the ground. Often for good measure the surveyor threw in a few rods.

When the territory was later surveyed with instruments, the corrections made left this bit of "No Man's Land" which is the territory in dispute.

East Liverpool—Because of a wage reduction, which they said averaged 10 per cent, 120 workers at the American Vitrefied Products company here walked out on a strike recently. The workers said they accepted a similar cut in June, 1927.

Here Is The Best Way To Guess Age Of Friday Dinner

Seattle, March 8.—Magnify one fish scale 83 times, count the summer and winter rings and any scientist can tell you the age of a fish.

That is the claim of L. P. Schultz, professor of fisheries at the University of Washington, who, in two years, expects to attain research results of great value to the commercial salmon industry and fish conservation of the northwest. He has collected and enlarged 3500 scales. Rate of growth, injuries and in some instances the time of spawning can be determined from the scales, he said.

Over the top...

It's a wise man—and a well-dressed one—who knows what to put on his head. Lots of people who ought to know better never seem to realize that their hats are the most conspicuous things they wear.

But after all, it's not a difficult matter. You can get the right hat if you get the right name. And there's one name that means hat style and hat quality, all over the world. That's Stetson.

POWER OF I. C. C. IN CITY NEEDS TO BE DECIDED

Supreme Court Decision
Awaited In Noted
"Cargo Case"

Washington, March 8. — The power of the Interstate Commerce Commission to consider the needs of communities as well as the necessity of revenue for railroads in the making of freight rates will be brought before the United States supreme court soon in argument of the celebrated "Lake cargo case."

The court's ultimate decision, in the opinion of many government officials, will become a landmark upon which future regulation of rates of the vast railroad system of the nation will be based.

The commission is appealing the case after a three-judge federal district court in West Virginia found that the commission had no power to suspend a 20-cent-a-ton reduction in coal rates from West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia mines to the Great Lakes.

In its opinion the lower court found that the question was not primarily one of railroad rates but a fight between bituminous coal operators of Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio and the southern operators for the Great Lakes business and for their economic life.

The lake cargo case has already resounded in oratory upon the floor of the senate, has played a part in confirmation fights on presidential appointments and was raised in the last election.

The quarrel began when freight rates from Pennsylvania to the lakes were reduced, opponents charging that the reduction was intended to keep Pennsylvania mines open and close those in West Virginia and other states.

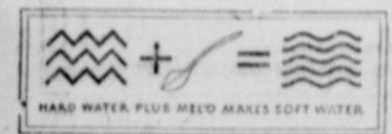

The southern roads, led by the Baltimore and Ohio, retaliated by but they won't come clean

Why? The water is hard. And instead of nice, sudsy water, there's a greasy ring around the basin. The soap has mixed with the hard water to form scum. And the scum goes on the wash cloth, and smears the pans.

Water softened with MELO is different. It will clean. Scour the pots! Scour the pans! But do it with soft water. Get a can of MELO today at your grocer's.

putting into effect the 20-cent-a-ton reduction which again equalized rates. The Interstate Commerce commission issued an order forbidding the southern roads from cutting rates.

Questions Ruling
In its brief filed with the court.

the commission contends that the lower court was entirely wrong in concluding that the commission intended to favor certain mining interests against other. Its action in prohibiting the 20-cent-a-ton reduction, it is asserted, was intended to prevent a "rate war" between the northern and southern railroads.

The commission asserts that the burden of fixing fair railroad rates means that it must provide rates which will yield the railroads a fair revenue, whether or not the railroads want the rates.

The validity of the Hoch-Smith resolution in which congress directed the Interstate Commerce Commission to consider the depressed condition of agriculture in fixing railroad rates, is expected to be drawn into the case.

John H. Carnes, administrator of the estate of Edna Carnes deceased, seeks a judgment for $35,000 and William Carnes, a minor, through his next friend, seeks $7,500 damages.

Both petitions, filed by a Youngstown law firm, disclose that an automobile driven by the plaintiff elder Carnes stalled on the tracks of the defendant company near the Silver Switch on the East Liverpool-Wellsville road Dec. 1, last, and that before it could be moved from the crossing a car of the defendant company crashed into the automobile, which resulted in the death of Edna Carnes, and the serious injury of William Carnes.

Negligence on the part of the operator of the car is set up in the petition.

Sale Ordered
Judgment for the defendant and an order of sale has been entered in the suit of Lena Breakstone against Benj. Warnikoff. This was an action on the part of the plaintiff to have a mortgage cancelled and the title to property cleared.

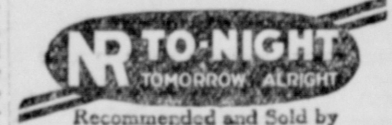

Divorce Granted
On the grounds of wilful absence for over a period of three years a decree of divorce has been granted the plaintiff in the case of Rose Ruhe against Herbert Ruhe. The plaintiff has been restored to her maiden name, Rose Ford.

AIRPLANES FAST REPLACING DOGS IN ALASKA LIFE

Air Routes Revolutionize Travel In Northern Countries

Seattle, Wash. March 8.—The airplane is revolutionizing travel in Alaska, according to Gov. George A. Parks of the territory.

The governor, during a brief stop-over in Seattle before continuing north, said that Alaskan prospectors are fast forsaking the long trails, snowshoes and dog sledges in favor of the speedy and direct air course.

"Sourdoughs" who went out last fall in planes to search for treasure are preparing to return by the same route with reports of their discoveries.

No 1928 Accidents
Last year Alaskan pilots flew 250,000 miles without a fatal accident, Park said. One pilot has brought 70 people from outlying camps to the Fairbanks hospital for treatment.

The plane, he declared, is outdistancing communications in the territory. Radio transmitting systems are now needed at outlying points to call planes on emergency cases.

Trapping and prospecting have been stimulated by the new means of transportation. According to Park, the greater part of last year's trap will be shipped by plane from the interior to the coast.

Prospectors, who previously refused to venture into the northern wilderness, took advantage of the $20,000 appropriation made by the legislature to pay traveling expenses with a limit of $150 to each man and used the stake to go out by plane from cities in all parts of the territory.

As it is, many natives who have never seen automobiles or trains are now accustomed to the sight of planes and are rapidly becoming "air minded." A long jump from the dog team to the modern aircraft.

Russian Inspects Colorado Mines

Denver, March 7.—Colorado methods of mining were inspected recently by Dr. S. T. Alexandroff, representative of the supreme council of public economists of Soviet Russia.

Dr. Alexandroff sought information on the latest mining principles involved in the production of tung-

While Russian economists do not agree with American political philosophy, Dr. Alexandroff explained, they are anxious to come here for advanced ideas in regard to in-

Ailing Housewives Welcome Owa-ton-na

Dizziness and Backaches Disappear When This Fine Old Indian Remedy Is Used

Each day new stories are told of how Owa-Ton-Na is dispelling a tired, worn-out feeling, due to sluggish body functions, present in most housewives. The constant confining work which keeps most women tied down most of the time nearly always results in a sluggishness of body functions and gradually a tired, all-in nervous condition sets in and gives women many days of misery. Owa-Ton-Na is a systemic cleanser which stimulates organic functions and aids in the elimination of the poisons which cause these conditions.

headaches I had at times made me miserable many days.

"As if this were not enough, I would have terrible backaches and dizzy spells. My kidneys gave me a great deal of trouble and I was just getting to the point where I didn't know what to do. I was simply all in most of the time."

"I had heard so much of the good Owa-Ton-Na had been doing for other people, and knowing that it was a harmless remedy, decided to take hold of my condition and removed that tired, worn-out feeling as if by magic. My stomach acts fine and when I eat I don't have to be afraid of those gas and bloating spells. What a glorious relief to get rid of those headaches and backaches. My bowels are acting regularly."

"Owa-Ton-Na just seems to cleanse the system from top to bottom. If anyone is suffering as I have, they don't have to suffer any longer, as Owa-Ton-Na will give them a big surprise if they try it. I can highly recommend Owa-Ton-Na to all who suffer."

You, too, can enjoy better health. If you will but give Owa-Ton-Na a trial. Why not call today at Flodding's, J. H. Lease or Bolger & French drug stores and obtain a bottle of this fine old Indian Remedy and learn for yourself the benefits derived from its use.—Adv.

Mrs. George Brown, 67 Perry St., Salem, Ohio, tells how Owa-Ton-Na helped her. She says, "For three years I have been terribly constipated. I have been suffering a great deal with indigestion and awful attacks of sourness and gas. It just seemed that whenever I ate, I would have to be afraid of those terrible bloating spells and the

Dear Sirs:

This is to acknowledge the acceptance of your offer to purchase our entire 1929 sample line of living room suites, recently exhibited at our Chicago Furniture Mart Showrooms.

In the hope that we can more firmly establish a pleasant business relationship and secure the tremendous volume of business from your associated stores, we have decided to accept your offer, even though it was not the most favorable one submitted to us. We frankly confess, we were influenced by your tremendous outlet and willingly sacrifice our samples in the effort to secure your future business.

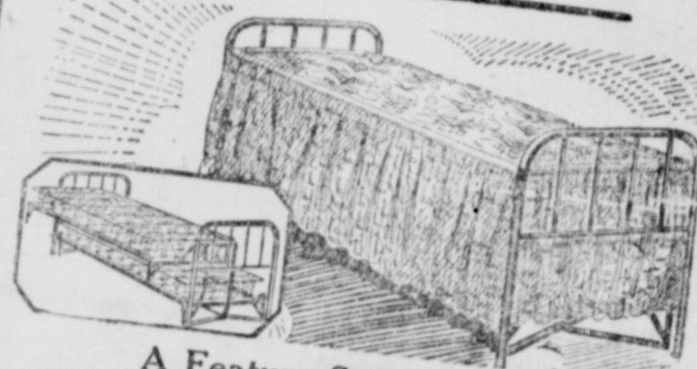

We cannot help becoming enthusiastic with you over this deal. You have within your power the advantages for a sale such as has never been announced before. The prices at which you can now afford to sell high grade De Luxe Living Room Suites, particularly the very newest of our creations, will undoubtedly set a new standard for value-giving.

Shipment of this merchandise has gone forward as per your instructions to your various stores.

Expressing our best wishes for a most successful sale of these De Luxe Suites, we beg to remain,

Very truly yours,
DE LUXE UPHOLSTERING CO.
